San Francisco - Orange County Exchange (a benefit of IEA...)

The Board of the International Executives Associations recently approved helping a member chapter visit another Association for ideas & support. Harry Reiter, Executive Director and Steve St. Denny, President of the San Francisco Executives Association visited the Executives' Association of Orange County. The trip included attending a new member orientation luncheon, the morning business meeting, a Board of Directors Meeting and dinner with the Executive Director, Gayle Stewart, (also an IEA Board member)

Gayle has started five Executive Associations and has allowed many new Executive Directors to job shadow over the past thirty six years. She always starts with informing the visitors that all IEA chapter associations are autonomous and they are free to steal any ideas they like. She also recommends that they start introducing the new ideas slowly, not all at once. EAO's website, brochures, new member notebook, business card directory, contests and forms are all available and were discussed during the visit.

This is another example of the benefits of being a member of the International Executives Association. Members and Chapter Associations are always here to help each other.

IEA Leads & DBW (did business with)

Edmonton Pub/Nightclub member Tracy Rohl from Hudson (also an EEA Board member) was recently in Orlando to visit her parents and attended the EAGO meeting. She wrote:

Carrie & EAGO members,

Thank you so much for the hospitality and warm reception for us when we attended the EAGO meeting June 24th. It was a really great experience to see how other chapters do their weekly meetings, and gave me a ton of prospective as to the interesting individuals that make up the IEA.

As a matter of fact, I'm fairly certain that my mother will be using the services of EAGO members Apex Pest Control and Pro-Tech in the not too distant future!

Thanks again, and I'm certain I will see you all again!

For Executive Directors

Benefits of IEA Membership

- IEA-Member Associations receive regular updates & information to support members, boards, & directors.
- The IEA offers a forum to centralize Executives Associations' ideas, information and activities.
- The IEA office is located in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, under the management of an experienced Executive Director who knows the needs of Member Firms, the challenges facing Executive Directors & the Board of Directors, and the value of personal and professional communication.
- Whatever your current issue, you have access to the support required by asking other ED's so that you don't waste your time re-inventing the wheel

For Associations & Their Boards

- The IEA Website: Only IEA-Member Associations are linked to this website, doubling the power of your Association's current website!
- IEA-Member Associations receive discounts on registration to the annual International Conference.
- Board Training and support from other experienced Boards
- Access to the Best Practices data on Board Governance, Association Management Issues
- Easy access to answers on Membership Recruiting & Retention, Leads & Attendance Requirements, Association Surveys, etc.

For Local Member Firms

Personal

- You'll learn first-hand the best and most reliable sources globally for your personal or professional needs, whether it be economic, legal, medical, or if you just want to know the best places to visit during your travels.

- Special EA pricing on hotels, car rentals, etc. from other IEA member firms
- Attend EA meetings in other cities & expand your network beyond your local borders

Business

- Only Firms of IEA Member Association are featured on the IEA website and can be found by searching for the classification and/or city, with links to your company's website and E-Mail!
- Exchange business leads or seek counsel with 1000's of other industry leaders.

As an IEA-Member:

- With a cost of only $1.25 per Member Firm per month, there is no cheaper presence on the Internet, and no better, faster or less expensive way to expand your horizons!
- Find the best and most reliable sources for your personal or professional needs, whether it be economic, legal, medical, or if you just want to know the best places to visit during your travels.
- You have a link that reaches around the IEA Globe. Now that's networking power — that's the Power of Association
